

Malcolm Parker CEO of Malpentertainment is a multifaceted professional in the realms of music, entertainment, production, and entrepreneurship. Hailing from New York, Malcolm's journey in music began as a source of personal enjoyment, evolving into a prolific career that spans various genres.

As a musician, Malcolm is a versatile talent skilled in drums, piano, organ, and bass. His musical prowess has led him to open for distinguished national acts, including GRAMMY-nominated artists such as Danielle Nicole, Everclear, Plain White T's, and Marvin Sapp, among others.

In addition to his live performances, Malcolm has left an indelible mark in the world of music placements. His work has been featured in a diverse array of platforms, including major brands such as EGGO Waffle, NHL, VH1, and the Golf Channel-PGA Tour. Notable television shows like "Love & Hip Hop," "Family Reunion: Love & Hip Hop Edition Party," and "Black Ink Crew" have showcased Malcolm's musical contributions. His portfolio extends to sports events, with placements in CBS Sports, ESPN, and X Games Aspen 2023 Anthology Show #1 & 2. Malcolm has also made musical contributions to diverse projects, including the Food Network's "Beat Bobby Flay Holiday Throwdown," Bravo's "Real Housewives" franchise, and E! Celebrity Prank Wars. His extensive repertoire encompasses a wide range of genres, providing a dynamic and rich musical backdrop to various media productions.

With a career marked by professionalism and an unwavering commitment to musical excellence, Malcolm continues to make waves in the industry, leaving an indelible mark on both the stage and the screen.

